

daily photo by harold rosenberg

What is this man smiling about?

by sue tobin

CHAT meets GAY

George Hislop, President of the Community Homophile Association of Toronto (CHAT) last night expressed his enthusiasm about the growth of a gay people's group at McGill. Speaking to over 60 members of GAY, a newly-formed McGill organization, he said, "We're delighted. It's nice to see another link in the chain across the country."

Also participating in the informal talk was Patricia Murphy, another member of CHAT.

Hislop opened his talk by listing the various active groups of gay people in major Canadian cities, such as Vancouver, Waterloo, and Halifax.

Hislop described the early history of CHAT. He explained that the Anglican Holy Trinity Church, in downtown Toronto, was very helpful to the new group. Community meetings and fund-raising dances were held in the church itself, and pews were lined along the walls to make room for the dancers. A bar was set up in the hall.

All went smoothly until the Liquor Control Board decided to revoke the church's liquor licence on various technicalities.

"Imagine that, the church losing its liquor licence," said Hislop with a grin.

The group, forced to find new quarters, continued its social program from a local Unitarian church.

Aside from its own fund-raising programs, CHAT has received funds from a number of government sources, including grants from Opportunities for Youth and the Local Initiatives Program. Total government funding, according to Hislop, is approximately $39,000.

Pat Murphy noted that one of the most important services of CHAT is their 24-hour a day "distress and information telephone." Persons manning the phone are equipped to give emergency drug counselling, and advice or referral for psychiatric or VD problems.

Volunteers are trained to handle incoming calls by observing experienced people at work on the phones and then discussing the case with the counsellor. After a while, they answer the phone themselves.

Speaking more generally about the organization of homosexuals, Murphy noted that the American movement is characterized by separate male and female groups. "If any organization can avoid this split," she said, "it is to their advantage. Gay men and women can learn from each other and better understand their common oppression."

Murphy recognized the necessity for women to meet in groups to discuss their needs and problems. At the same time, she stressed that their conclusions should be shared with the whole community for further discussion and education. "Men and women can work together in this society if they try," she said.

Murphy concluded with the reminder that GAY must go outside the bounds of the university and begin to organize the Montreal community. Expressing her faith in the group, she said, "You're off to a good start."

daily photo by mary rozestraten

George Hislop

VOL. 62, NO. 31 WEDNESDAY, NOV. 1, 1972 THREE CENTS

by arnold bennett

Stanfield sweeps, Meighen weeps

Michael Meighen can probably spare $200, but he would have to be the President of an American multinational corporation not to be having some financial pangs over his electoral defeat Monday. The Westmount PC candidate spent over $110,000 on his campaign, according to well-informed sources, and to add insult to injury, he lost his $200 deposit by failing to pick up half of the 22,109 votes that went to the Liberal incumbent, C. M. Drury.

During the campaign, residents of Westmount were bombarded with reams of paper in slick leaflets, newspapers and posters, in which Meighen was portrayed in Kennedyesque poses. Truckloads of screaming children were driven up and down the streets of the riding, and children playing outside were pinned with groovy blue Michael Meighen buttons.

The campaign was masterminded by our very own Dickie Pomerantz, who during his brief tenure last year as President of the McGill Students' Society had the walls of his office adorned with Bobby Kennedy posters. Unfortunately for Mike and Dickie, the kids couldn't vote, and the electors of Westmount preferred to stay with "Bud" Drury, although they slashed his majority from 78% to 60%. Meighen picked up 9,856 votes, while Bob Keaton of the NDP drew 4,717. Peter Foster of the Communist Party of Quebec (Marxist-Leninist) got 260. (His party, running 16 candidates, obtained a total of 3,500 votes.)

Keaton's support was relatively evenly dispersed throughout the riding, with his main strength concentrated in eastern NDG and in the student ghetto. Compared to the enormous amount thrown around by Meighen, only $4,000 was spent by the Keaton campaign.

The amount of votes obtained by Keaton was about average for NDP candidates in the Montreal area. Candidates in the working-class districts received about 2,000 less, while McGill economist Kari Levitt, running in Dollard, got 8,087 votes, placing third. The only Quebec NDP candidates to place second were Pierre de Bellefeuille in Ahuntsic, with 6,779, behind Jeanne Sauve and H-F Gautrin in Outremont, with 5,150, behind Trudeau's eminence grise, Marc Lalonde.

As everyone should know by now, the Liberals blitzed the Montreal area and maintained their level of 56 seats in Quebec, while they were being slaughtered everywhere else. Drury rode in on the Liberal Party's coattails. He hardly bothered to fight an election campaign and refused to participate in public forums with the other candidates after a few sorties in which he failed miserably in comparison.

Informed sources indicate that Drury, now Treasury Board President, will almost positively not run again, no matter what happens between now and the next election, because of ill-health, a falling out with the Trudeau-Marchand-Lalonde-Goyer "mafia" which now dominates the party, and other reasons which cannot be enumerated without more facts.

It is not likely that the Progressive Conservatives will be able to form the next government, despite their one-seat edge over the Liberals. There are far more "conservatives" than "progressives" in the crop which was just elected—hard-core reactionaries who ran on anti-French or anti-labour platforms. With only two members from Quebec, the Conservatives would be courting a disaster for their federalist cause if they tried to form a government. Even the Diefenbaker minority government of 1957 had nine caucus members from Quebec.

The political pundits of the left are now speculating that the Quebec "mafia", the "left" wing of the Liberal Party, may stage an internal coup and push the dominant conservative wing of the party away from the centre of power. The pundits think that Trudeau, Marchand, Mackasey and Pelletier at heart are really "left-liberals" and that they now have their long-desired chance to govern "progressively" with the backing of the NDP.

What the NDP thinks of this arrangement remains to be seen.

A "progressive" Liberal government which would co-opt the NDP's policies might prove to be electorally disastrous for the David

continued on page 2

Apartheid . . .

continued from page 1

can in South Africa does not compete with the white man. Only certain classes of work at fixed rates of pay are available to him.

Blacks have no right to strike, nor to break their contracts of service. They may not work without a permit, nor reside in a given area for more than a limited period without a permit to seek work.

The external influences are most evident in the form of foreign investment. A case in point is General Motors, employing 6,100 workers in South Africa, of which 4,700 are wage workers and 70% of these are non-white. GM admits that it follows the law of the land in South Africa, which means that it totally cooperates with the apartheid system of racial separation and discrimination. The wage inequalities at GM between the races is a mirror of the official policy of South Africa. The white artisan receives four times the salary of the unskilled black man at GM plants.

In spite of this support of the apartheid by foreign investors such as GM, French-Beytagh does not advocate a withdrawal of foreign capital.

French-Beytagh's present fight against apartheid takes the form of a fight against emigration of white artisans from Britain and other European countries to South Africa. The importance of this question is that South Africa is now experiencing a desperate shortage of semi-skilled and skilled workers.

This problem of scarcity of labourers could be solved in one of two ways. Mass immigration of whites from European or Commonwealth countries, or training of the black labour force in South Africa. The former of the two is the preferred course of the white minority government as training of blacks would involve a rise in the standard of living of the Africans.

French-Beytagh has tried to deal directly with trade unions in Great Britain to get them to discourage emigration to South Africa. He has met with little success, though, as he is quick to point out that "the trade unions in Great Britain are allied to the white trade unions in South Africa."

This he considers a "betrayal of the idea of trade unions, which he defines as "liberation of low paid workers." "The black," he says, "is the real worker in South Africa."

The protests against apartheid in South Africa on the university level originate almost exclusively in the English-speaking universities. In the Afrikaaner universities, French-Beytagh stated, "the emphasis is on the duty of the white man to uphold the apartheid ethic." The newest Afrikaaner university in Johannesburg states one of its purposes in its constitution as, "the eradication of Communism, Socialism, and Liberalism."

He suggested a practical approach for foreign universities such as McGill to take towards Afrikaaner universities that "purposely misconstrue the teaching of history." McGill should "bring pressure to bear not to recognize degrees in the humanities granted by these universities."

While Black Nationalist parties outside South Africa are trying to help, French-Beytagh warns that they are "merely wasting money and lives." "They are squabbling amongst themselves, and I don't want to have any more to do with them than I do with the security police." He does, however, see the validity of such groups in terms of a united effort.

French-Beytagh views "intelligent and just violence" without objection. He further stated that he believed in "just revolution" that could be justified by theology.

He could envision a day when "Black Africa would invade South Africa." He does, however, have grave misgivings as he questions "who Great Britain and the United States would side with. They likely would move to protect their investments."

The question of internal insurrection in South Africa is dubious, in his view. His pessimism stems from the existing situation of a highly organized and efficient white army. White males are conscripted by law for at least one year of military training, while blacks receive no training at all.

He fears that black revolt would lead to "violence, not revolution." He sees "no chance of success fighting something so massive."

French-Beytagh foresees little possibility of ever going back to South Africa. While he is "not technically forbidden to return," he would face systematic harassment by security police and also possible imprisonment.

letters

A Little Clarification

Sir,
In response to the many letters written by people condemning my actions of October 25th/72 at the Students' Council meeting, I feel that you have not judged me fairly as you have not taken even the most elementary precaution of ascertaining the veracity of your 'facts'.

The only fact that you have correct is that I left the meeting—I did not walk out as has been suggested. Both Gabor Zinner and Myron Galloway were aware that I would have to leave at that time due to two exams the following day. I feel that even though I am a Students' Councilor I also have a right to also serve my own interests and ensure that I at least pass my courses satisfactorily.

I repeat that I did not leave. I am fully in accord with Mr. Ormos' contention that these Faculty budgets are out of order (a fact which he explained just prior to the aforementioned meeting). Those of you present at the meeting will remember that I made no objection to the ruling—a fact which the Daily reporter conveniently omitted. Further, seeing as Council was generous enough to guarantee all expenditure made upon the assumption that this money would be allotted from the 'reserve fund' a week ago, I don't see that we have any objection coming and we surely won't be making any.

That being the case I think you all ought to take that into consideration and not judge by appearances. I trust that the consequence is evident.

And, if you insist on finding a reason for Council's procrastination, how about some of the other Councilors whose sole ambition seems to be to act in the great tradition of Virginia filibustering. I am sick and tired of meaningless debate on even more senseless issues. If these people wish to debate and illustrate their ability, may I remind them that the Debating Club is always ready for new members.

Bennett Little
Management Representative
Students' Council

today

continued from page 2

English Department Film Series:

D.W. Griffith's "Birth of a Nation". FDA Auditorium (PSCA). 4 pm. Admission 25c.

Kappa Alpha Theta Fraternity:

Free lunch for all interested girls. 12-2 pm. 546 Milton, apt. 2.
Yellow Door:
Music, 8-12 pm; Liz Tansey. Legal Aid, 7 pm; lunch every day, all week, hot and cold, 12-2 pm, 3625 Aylmer, or phone 392-4947.

Physics Films:

Richard Feynman, "The Great Conservation Principles". 1 pm, FDA Auditorium. Free.

Ski Team (Men and Women):

Training at 5 pm in Molson Stadium. For more info. phone Marie at 737-9333.

Skydiving Club:

Packing Class, 1st jump certificates and discussion of first jumps. 7:00, Skydiving office, B47 in the Union.

Women's Intramural Basketball:

Games Tonight: (At the Currie Gym)

Meds. vs. Arts 5:30 pm

Educ. vs. Nurses

P.T. vs R.V.C. 6:30 pm

Science vs PanHell

Gay:

8:30 in the Redpath Library drop in centre. George Hislop and Patricia Murphy from the executive of CHAT (Community Homophile Association of Toronto) will speak. Everyone is welcome! For more info contact James Young, president GAY, 844-0495.

Savoy Society:

7:00 rehearsal for all leads. 8:00 for chorus. Union B26-27.

Debating Union:

Novice training again B42, 7 pm.

Wrestling Practice:

5 pm in the wrestling room at the gym. For more info phone Don, 695-9108.

Children's Art Project:

Union 123-124, 10 am-6 pm (the OFY project held at the Children's Hospital).

Engineering Honor Society:

Seminar on "How to approach a job interview". All welcome, especially 5th-year engineers. Room E204, 1 pm.

Pre-Med Society:

Film: Development of the Immune Capacity in the Newborn. 1 pm, Palmer Howard Theatre. McIntyre 522.

what's what

LECTURE SERIES ON MUSLIM EAST

The students of the Institute of Islamic Studies announce a series of lectures dealing with historical and current problems of the Muslim East. The first lecture in the series, "Some Speculations on the Future of the Indian Subcontinent," will be delivered by Dr. Charles Adams, Director of The Institute of Islamic Studies at McGill, on Wednesday, November 1, at 4:00 P.M. at Leacock 830. Subsequent lectures will be announced in the Daily and around campus. All students are invited to attend.

classifieds

These ads may be placed in the advertising office at the University Centre from 10 am to 4 pm. Ads received by noon appear the following day. Rates: 3 consecutive insertions—$3.00 maximum 20 words. 15 cents per extra word.

MISCELLANEOUS

ATTENTION! Conservative, Eastern Townships, weekend group (cross-country downhill skiing, snowshoeing. Good food, congenial company, interesting conversation) requires members. 467-5501 evenings.

Free kittens (five) plus mother tangerine flavor with white. Someone please find homes or must sacrifice. Phone Charles 843-3126.

London for $139 return, McGill Society's 11th Annual Christmas Charter. 21 Dec. to 7 Jan. Call Fred Innis - 937-1854.

To be forewarned, is to be forearmed. Beware! The Great Pumpkin is coming!

Murder at McGill: Kill a friend for old time's sake and die laughing. Contracts available at Union Box Office.

MOC St. John's Ambulance first Aid Course starts Tuesday Oct. 31 8:00 PM. Rm 327 Union Cost - $6.00. Contact Rm. 416.

HOUSING

Engineering Graduate Student would like to share apartment with male student who has an extra room or look for it. Ben 274-7100 (evenings)

Girl age 24 needs another girl to find two bedroom furnished apartment near McGill. Gail 392-4878 days; 487-4615 evenings.

Aylmer 3556 near McGill. Save time why travel. Clean rooms sink, stove, refrigerator. Linen supply $16.00 $18.00 weekly 849-4887.

FOR SALE

Size 14 unused Ski pants Pedigree Red, Richard Todd Black, Green, $8. each. Stereo/Two speakers. 843-3994 after 5. No cheques.

Austin 850, 1962 fitted 1100 engine cooper gear-box, twin carbs, tubular exhaust manifold, good tires, $75.00 843-3952. 9-11 PM

Lange pro boots excellent condition. $65. Size 9W. Beautiful Colonial single bed $70. Call Jan 486-8727 after 21.00.

Sailboat - 20' sloop. Sleeps two - Recalculd last year. Needs some work. Adam 392-8992. Consider exchange for equal value.

New Lloyds Cassette recorder. Around $20. at 3556 Aylmer, no. 17. Come evenings. If not in, leave note under door.

1972 Rensignol Strato 102, size 210, with Ramy binding, excellent condition, Barely used, Low price, 737-6713.

Amsterdam one-way anytime till Nov. 16, $85. Men's soft lambskin 38 black midi about $65. Coat & ticket $125. Stu - 522-4591

WE NEED ONE MILLION applicants for unemployment insurance before 1975. Apply Truedough, Standfield & Co. Inc. Ottawa, Ont.

LOST

Black cat with white throat, male, wearing red plaid collar, near Aylmer and Sherbrooke. Reward. Call Marilyn 844-5223 or 392-4513.

Correction: Brown samsonite case, initials N.R. Please return contents to Union Lost & Found or Law Buildings and call either 744-2009 or 487-1422 for $25 reward.

JOBS

Bilingual male & female students wanted to work full or part-time in a new Unisex boutique opening soon in Brossard. Call during store business hours. 679-8780.

PERSONAL

Problems? Feel you need to rap with a rabbi. Call Israel Hausman 341-3580.

Happy Birthday, Jackie - We still love you even though you're over the hill.

Although this may seem to be forgotten I'll always remember never to forget Happy Birthday!

WANTED

Do you have ESP? Anyone interested in taking part in experiment to test power of clairvoyance please contact Gertrude 351-0068.

Electric Bassist. Must be into rock and blues call Chris 744-6172.

Graduate or Honours English student needed to teach oral and written English to private person call Gonzales after 5 PM. 842-1064.

Text statistical analysis for decision making. Maris Hanberg. Phone 392-2546, 336-6923.

TYPING

Typing term papers, theses, lecture notes, copy work stencils, same day service. 733-3272.

ENTERTAINMENT

ISLANDIA COFFEEHOUSE. Thursday November 2, in Union Coffeelounge at 8 PM. Live entertainment, Free Admission.

Lunchtime Concerts (Entertainment Committee presents Roger Lapierre, flamenco guitarist, Thursday, November 2, from 1-2 PM in the Union Ballroom.

daily photo by harold rosenberg

What is this man smiling about?

by sue tobin

CHAT meets GAY

George Hislop, President of the Community Homophile Association of Toronto (CHAT) last night expressed his enthusiasm about the growth of a gay people's group at McGill. Speaking to over 60 members of GAY, a newly-formed McGill organization, he said, "We're delighted. It's nice to see another link in the chain across the country."

Also participating in the informal talk was Patricia Murphy, another member of CHAT.

Hislop opened his talk by listing the various active groups of gay people in major Canadian cities, such as Vancouver, Waterloo, and Halifax.

Hislop described the early history of CHAT. He explained that the Anglican Holy Trinity Church, in downtown Toronto, was very helpful to the new group. Community meetings and fund-raising dances were held in the church itself, and pews were lined along the walls to make room for the dancers. A bar was set up in the hall.

All went smoothly until the Liquor Control Board decided to revoke the church's liquor licence on various technicalities.

"Imagine that, the church losing its liquor licence," said Hislop with a grin.

The group, forced to find new quarters, continued its social program from a local Unitarian church.

Aside from its own fund-raising programs, CHAT has received funds from a number of government sources, including grants from Opportunities for Youth and the Local Initiatives Program. Total government funding, according to Hislop, is approximately $39,000.

Pat Murphy noted that one of the most important services of CHAT is their 24-hour a day "distress and information telephone." Persons manning the phone are equipped to give emergency drug counselling, and advice or referral for psychiatric or VD problems.

Volunteers are trained to handle incoming calls by observing experienced people at work on the phones and then discussing the case with the counsellor. After a while, they answer the phone themselves.

Speaking more generally about the organization of homosexuals, Murphy noted that the American movement is characterized by separate male and female groups. "If any organization can avoid this split," she said, "it is to their advantage. Gay men and women can learn from each other and better understand their common oppression."

Murphy recognized the necessity for women to meet in groups to discuss their needs and problems. At the same time, she stressed that their conclusions should be shared with the whole community for further discussion and education. "Men and women can work together in this society if they try," she said.

Murphy concluded with the reminder that GAY must go outside the bounds of the university and begin to organize the Montreal community. Expressing her faith in the group, she said, "You're off to a good start."

daily photo by mary rozestraten

George Hislop

VOL. 62, NO. 31 WEDNESDAY, NOV. 1, 1972 THREE CENTS

by arnold bennett

Stanfield sweeps, Meighen weeps

Michael Meighen can probably spare $200, but he would have to be the President of an American multinational corporation not to be having some financial pangs over his electoral defeat Monday. The Westmount PC candidate spent over $110,000 on his campaign, according to well-informed sources, and to add insult to injury, he lost his $200 deposit by failing to pick up half of the 22,109 votes that went to the Liberal incumbent, C. M. Drury.

During the campaign, residents of Westmount were bombarded with reams of paper in slick leaflets, newspapers and posters, in which Meighen was portrayed in Kennedyesque poses. Truckloads of screaming children were driven up and down the streets of the riding, and children playing outside were pinned with groovy blue Michael Meighen buttons.

The campaign was masterminded by our very own Dickie Pomerantz, who during his brief tenure last year as President of the McGill Students' Society had the walls of his office adorned with Bobby Kennedy posters. Unfortunately for Mike and Dickie, the kids couldn't vote, and the electors of Westmount preferred to stay with "Bud" Drury, although they slashed his majority from 78% to 60%. Meighen picked up 9,856 votes, while Bob Keaton of the NDP drew 4,717. Peter Foster of the Communist Party of Quebec (Marxist-Leninist) got 260. (His party, running 16 candidates, obtained a total of 3,500 votes.)

Keaton's support was relatively evenly dispersed throughout the riding, with his main strength concentrated in eastern NDG and in the student ghetto. Compared to the enormous amount thrown around by Meighen, only $4,000 was spent by the Keaton campaign.

The amount of votes obtained by Keaton was about average for NDP candidates in the Montreal area. Candidates in the working-class districts received about 2,000 less, while McGill economist Kari Levitt, running in Dollard, got 8,087 votes, placing third. The only Quebec NDP candidates to place second were Pierre de Bellefeuille in Ahuntsic, with 6,779, behind Jeanne Sauve and H-F Gautrin in Outremont, with 5,150, behind Trudeau's eminence grise, Marc Lalonde.

As everyone should know by now, the Liberals blitzed the Montreal area and maintained their level of 56 seats in Quebec, while they were being slaughtered everywhere else. Drury rode in on the Liberal Party's coattails. He hardly bothered to fight an election campaign and refused to participate in public forums with the other candidates after a few sorties in which he failed miserably in comparison.

Informed sources indicate that Drury, now Treasury Board President, will almost positively not run again, no matter what happens between now and the next election, because of ill-health, a falling out with the Trudeau-Marchand-Lalonde-Goyer "mafia" which now dominates the party, and other reasons which cannot be enumerated without more facts.

It is not likely that the Progressive Conservatives will be able to form the next government, despite their one-seat edge over the Liberals. There are far more "conservatives" than "progressives" in the crop which was just elected—hard-core reactionaries who ran on anti-French or anti-labour platforms. With only two members from Quebec, the Conservatives would be courting a disaster for their federalist cause if they tried to form a government. Even the Diefenbaker minority government of 1957 had nine caucus members from Quebec.

The political pundits of the left are now speculating that the Quebec "mafia", the "left" wing of the Liberal Party, may stage an internal coup and push the dominant conservative wing of the party away from the centre of power. The pundits think that Trudeau, Marchand, Mackasey and Pelletier at heart are really "left-liberals" and that they now have their long-desired chance to govern "progressively" with the backing of the NDP.

What the NDP thinks of this arrangement remains to be seen.

A "progressive" Liberal government which would co-opt the NDP's policies might prove to be electorally disastrous for the David

continued on page 2

Stanfield . . .

continued from page 1

Lewisbrand of "socialism", which, as Last Post puts it, is not much different from liberalism. It might push the NDP to the left, or it might undercut it. However, if the NDP has become so bourgeois that it can be destroyed that easily by a little government opportunism, then destruction is what it deserves.

It is highly unlikely, however, that the Liberals will be willing to remain in power on NDP suffering. Another election is likely within the next few months, if the Liberals can drum up enough national support to prevent a 1958-style Conservative landslide. The NDP has a chance of winning no more than 45 additional seats, and then only if a miracle occurs. This is the number of seats where NDP candidates saved their deposits. Only one of the seats, Cape Breton-East Richmond, is east of the Ontario-Quebec border.

Three possibilities exist for Quebec within the context of bourgeois electoralism. It can hold steady with the Trudeau Liberals, who now, despite their role in October 1970, can put on the costume of the defenders of Quebec against the anti-French racists of Ontario Conservatism. It can swing to the Conservatives, as it did in 1958, in order to obtain Cabinet representation and prevent a repeat of the 1917 shutout of French-Canadians from power in Ottawa. Or it can say 'to hell with all this' and opt for independence. The possibilities are very interesting.

today

Community McGill:

A first grader in the Cote des Neiges area speaks Hebrew at home and is having trouble going to school in English. He needs help immediately before he falls too far behind. More info, Union 414, 392-8980, 11-4 pm.

Legal Aid:

Union 412, 11 am-12 pm, 1 pm-5 pm, 392-8952.

Stamp Club:

Meeting in Union 327. Bring your duplicates for trading session. New members welcome.

S.C.M. Yellow Door Coffee House:

Last night to see Liz Tansey; music from 8-12 pm. Lunch daily, 12-2 pm. Call 392-4947.

Community Family Center:

Day Care—pre-school registration for children. Room 202, Old McDonald Chemistry Bldg. (Pick up forms) 9 am-5 pm, tel. 392-4309.

Women's Intercollegiate Ice Hockey:

Tryouts. Team to be picked next week. Practice today at 5:15 pm-6:15 pm. Winter Stadium. Bring skates. Thurs. Same Time. Info-672-3449 after 7 pm.

Women's Bowling:

Leacock Lanes, 1616 St. Catherine W. at 7:30. Those who signed up are welcome. Bring 25c for shoes.

Chinese Students Society:

Members please pick up publication. I.S.A. Union B-40, 1 pm to 4 pm.

Pre-Med Society:

We are opening applications for members-at-large to help on executive positions with tours, movies, speakers, and advertising. Please leave name, address, phone number, and year in U409, Union mailbox, or Stewart N2/8.

Caribbean Students:

There is a general meeting today at 7:30 in Union 327. Everyone is urged to attend this very important meeting.

A.U.S. Speakers Committee:

Meridith Sykes will speak to all interested in the Canadian Inventory of Historic Building—regarding preservation of historic buildings all across Canada. Miss Sykes is a specialist in Architectural History and the organizer of the Canadian Inventory. Arch. Bldg. A-9, 8 pm.

continued on page 4

classifieds

These ads may be placed in the advertising office at the University Centre from 10 am to 4 pm. Ads received by noon appear the following day. Rates: 3 consecutive insertions—$3.00 maximum 20 words. 15 cents per extra word.

MISCELLANEOUS

ATTENTION! Conservative, Eastern Townships, weekend group (cross-country downhill skiing, snowshoeing. Good food, congenial company, interesting conversation) requires members. 467-5501 evenings.

London for $139 return, McGill Society's 11th Annual Christmas Charter. 21 Dec. to 7 Jan. Call Fred Innis - 937-1854.

MOC St. John's Ambulance first Aid Course starts Tuesday Oct. 31 8:00 PM. Rm 327 Union Cost - $6.00. Contact Rm. 416.

HOUSING

Engineering Graduate Student would like to share apartment with male student who has an extra room or look for it. Ben 274-7100 (evenings)

Girl age 24 needs another girl to find two bedroom furnished apartment near McGill. Call 392-4878 days; 487-4615 evenings.

Aylmer 3556 near McGill. Save time why travel. Clean rooms sink, stove, refrigerator. Linen supply $16.00 $18.00 weekly 849-4887.

Rooms for rent in large house 1170 St. Matthew. Call 935-4509 after 6 PM.

Apartment to sublet—on McGregor near Cote des Neiges. Water tax paid—heating paid—hot & cold water—fridge—furniture—electricity paid—2 1/2 rooms. Private entrance—private parking—10 min. from McGill—available Nov. 1st. Rent $125/month negotiable. Call & leave message at 392-8931. Ask for George.

FOR SALE

LADIES' SHEEPSKIN COAT—Kneelength, size 10. Hardly worn. Paid $200. asking $90.00. Call 488-0197 anytime.

Size 14 unused Ski pants Pedigree Red, Richard Todd Black, Green, $8. each. Stereo/two speakers. 843-3994 after 5. No cheques.

Austin 850, 1962 fitted 1100 engine cooper gear-box, twin carbs, tubular exhaust manifold, good tires. $75.00 843-3952. 9-11 PM

LARGE SKI BOOTS model 1970, standard size 5 1/2. (Women's). Excellent condition $40. Call Renée, 738-6251 after 6:30 PM.

1972 Rossignol Strato 102, size 210, with Ramy binding, excellent condition. Barely used. Low price, 737-6713.

Amsterdam one-way anytime till Nov. 16, $85. Men's soft lambskin 38 black midi about $65. Coat & ticket $125. Stu - 522-4591

JOBS

Bilingual male & female students wanted to work full or part-time in a new Unisex boutique opening soon in Brossard. Call during store business hours. 679-8780.

WE NEED ONE MILLION applicants for unemployment insurance before 1975. Apply Truedough, Standfield & Co. Inc. Ottawa, Ont.

PERSONAL

Problems? Feel you need to rap with a rabbi. Call Israel Hausman 341-3580.

Although this may seem to be forgotten I'll always remember never to forget Happy Birthday!

WANTED

Do you have ESP? Anyone interested in taking part in experiment to test power of clairvoyance please contact Gertrude 351-0068.

Electric Bassist. Must be into rock and blues call Chris 744-6172.

Graduate or Honours English student needed to teach oral and written English to private person call Gonzales after 5 PM. 842-1064.

TYPING

Typing term papers, theses, lecture notes, copy work stencils, same day service. 733-3272.

ENTERTAINMENT

The Great Pecarvé has arrived. He will perform a live show complete with audience participation on Thursday, Nov. 2, at 8:00 PM.

Lunchtime Concerts (Entertainment Committee) presents Roger Lapierre, flamenco guitarist, on Thursday, November 2, from 1-2 PM in the Union Ballroom.

ISLANDIA COFFEEHOUSE, Thursday November 2, in Union Coffeehouse at 8 PM. Live entertainment. Free Admission.

LOST

Black cat with white throat, male, wearing red plaid collar, near Aylmer and Sherbrooke. Reward. Call Marilyn 844-5223 or 392-4513.

cars available

For Toronto, Western Canada
Maritimes & Florida
Call MONTREAL
DRIVEAWAY SERVICE LTD.
4018 St. Catherine St. W.
Tel: 937-2816

The Shades Of Love

Appearing nightly
at
Montreal's Only Soul Centre

Rockhead's
1252 ST. ANTOINE ST. W.

In your spare time...

EARN UP TO $1000 OR MORE

(Our top sub agent earned $2500 last year)

Be an Authorized Sub Agentfor the distribution of CANADA SAVINGS BONDS

—contact—

N. Ian CookMcLeod, Young, Weir & Company Limited 861-9811

Media McGill Presents:

THE GREAT PÉCARVÉ

MASTER HYPNOTIST

Live show with audience participation

Thurs. Nov. 2 at 8:00 PM

Leacock Rm. 132

Admission: Students $1.50
Others $2.00

The McGill Daily is published five times a week by the Students' Society of McGill University, 3480 McTavish Street, Montreal 112. Editorial opinions expressed in these pages are not necessarily the official opinions of the Students' Society.

The Daily is a sustaining subscriber of l'Agence Presse Libre du Québec, a subscriber to Liberation News Service, and a member of Canadian University Press. Editorial Offices: 392-8955. Advertising office: 392-8902.

Editor-in-chief: Nesar Ahmad

Advertising Manager: Victor Loewy

letters

pleased to see that the Daily has finally taken him seriously. In reply to the McGill Debating Union, I wish to state that I am aware of his "irresponsibility" and fully support his stand.

I feel that the Debating Union, Council Reps., et al should leave architectural affairs to architectural students; perhaps the Students' Council could do the same. When, and if, they stop playing at politics, the situation can be reconsidered.

Rod Stutt
B. Arch 5

An Open Letter to the Arts and Science Undergraduate Society

Dear ASUS,

Upon reading today's Daily I came across a notice concerning ASUS elections. Most obvious was the fact that there was nothing concerning the election of Arts and Science students to Senate. From this it seems logical to assume that there are presently student Senators sitting on behalf of these faculties. Who are they and when were they elected?

But, if there are no student Senators for Arts and Science now sitting, when will the election for these positions be held?

Supporting irresponsibility

Sir,

In light of the poor coverage given to Gundars Kajaks upon his election to Students' Council, I am Finally it seems that there is a general unawareness by McGill students as to the position of the ASUS and student representation on Senate. Where does the ASUS stand? Answers to these questions would be appreciated.

Stephen Fogarty
BA III

*Ed. note: the following letter was submitted to the Daily for publication by Michael Furlong.*

AUS secedes from Students' Society

Dear Mr. Zinner,

As we have not spent any of the money which was given to us last week, do not bother us with any requests for lists of expenditures.

Do not expect to see our Student Society representative at any meeting, nor to see me at any meetings of the Board of Regular Committees.

Do not, either, bother to consider the Architectural Undergraduate Society represented on your constitutional committee. The representative from Medicine can do the job for himself and Law alone.

We will feel free to avail ourselves of any of the facilities of the society, in a vain attempt to get back some of the money thrown away on it, working meanwhile to secede from a society, association with which serves only to degrade us, and to work against our becoming the educated professional women and men, which is really the function of our stay at this university.

Far from being considered 'appallingly irresponsible' by my colleagues at the School of Architecture, I attach the signatures of 143 of them supporting the position I have taken. This number, while representing 93% of the student enrollment at the School, represents 98.5% of the students who were able to be contacted.

Our commitment is obvious; it is to the students of the School of Architecture and, with such support, there will be no resignations, either by our student council representative or by me.

Michael Furlong, President,
Architectural Undergraduates' Society

Michael Furlong explains

Sir,

I am sorry that I was not able to contact the entire student body at the School of Architecture, but twelve of them were away from school at the times I called at their desks. But I am sure you will agree that 140 supporting the stand that I have taken is a broad base. A 98.5% support (even from 93% of our student body) is a phenomenon unique in the history of student politics at McGill, and I am fairly sure that, if I were to let enough time pass, I could safely count on at least the same support from the students I was not able to see.

If I were crazy enough to express gratitude to Hoffman, Hardy et al, I could hardly restrain the statements of thanks I would owe them for the invaluable help they have given the students of the School of Architecture to express their solidarity on the matter of the meaninglessness of the Students' Society as it is now constituted.

I hope that, after the secession of a number of Faculty Societies has made the student body of McGill realise the hopelessness of the present organization, we will have the chance to reconstitute it in such a way that no one society, nor one political group, will be able to gain control of anything other than the organization which is rightfully its.

Michael Furlong, President,
Architectural Undergraduates' Society

what's what

PRE-MED SOCIETY

The Pre-Med Society is open to all undergraduate students in any faculty: we are not just a society for "Med P" students. We sponsor movies and speakers for our members concerning all aspects of medicine. We have calendars of other medical schools for you to look at in our office, Union 409, and are hoping to arrange a tour to hospitals or pharmaceutical firms if there is interest.

We are still open to new membership, and would like any interested people to get in touch with us for the positions of members-at-large on the executive. These positions entail arranging tours, advertising for movies and speakers, and helping with the executive organization. Please leave your name, address, phone number, and year in the mailbox in the union, in our office, or in Stewart N2/8. Please leave this information before Friday, November 10, and we will be in touch with you. (You can contact Linda Stirk, President, at 845-9437 for more information.)

LIBERATION SCHOOL

Liberation School is sponsoring a film and talk by David Martin on the bombing of North Vietnam, in the Union Ballroom on Thursday, Nov. 2, at 8:00 pm. The film, "Village by Village", was made in North Vietnam in May 1972. In addition, there will be two slide shows, one of which will be on the Pentagon Papers. Admission is free. Everyone welcome.

LUNCHTIME CONCERTS

Throughout the year, the Entertainment Committee will present a series of free concerts, featuring music of all types, from classical to hard rock, and anything in between. These shows will be held in the Union Ballroom on Tuesdays and Thursdays from 1 to 2 pm. The price is right, so why not attend?

Some of the musicians scheduled to perform include: Roger La Pierre: Thurs., Nov. 2 (classical guitarist) Dionysos: Tues., Nov. 7 (jazz-rock group) Wizard: Tues., Nov. 14 (hard rock group) Roger Simard Band: Tues., Nov. 21 (big band sound) These and all other shows will be advertised in the Daily.

Any musicians interested in performing for these concerts are asked to contact Gerry Vazquez, Union Room 409, or call 392-8981.

PSYCHOLOGY STUDENTS UNION

Wednesday evening at 5 pm in S3/4 of the Stewart Biology complex, near the Botany library.

Opening meeting to discuss aims, activities, generally to get ourselves together and find out who we are and what we'd like to accomplish. The department has all kinds of committees that are open to student participation; we will examine the options that are open to us as students desiring some kind of change. All interested psych students invited.

MCGILL DAY CARE FACILITIES

After several years of effort, a day care centre is finally being organized at McGill. The centre will be known as the McGill Community Family Centre, and registration for children between 2 and 5 years of age has already begun. Registration will be open to the children of McGill students, staff, and faculty members. The centre is self-funded, and strictly non-profit. Fees are scaled according to income.

The centre will be situated on Peel Street in a building provided for by the administration, which also has donated funds to allow for renovations and some capital equipment.

The major problem now seems to be the lack of equipment. If you can donate toys, materials, paper, or any articles of furniture, please contact Harvey Engelberg at 484-7253. For registration or any further details please call Wally Weng at 392-4309 or see her in 202B in the Macdonald Chemistry Building.

Hallowe'en meeting left holding bag

McGill students apparently were more interested in trick-or-treating yesterday than in attending an open meeting to discuss student discontent with the present constitution.

The scene resembled the backdrop of Eugene Ionesco's play "The Chairs". David Oliver, chairman of the meeting and member of the Students' Society's constitutional committee, stared morosely at the rows upon empty rows of seats in a drearier-than-usual Union ballroom. He confessed he had read only half of the constitution now in force. That document was compiled in 1964 and revised in 1965.

Oliver nonetheless invited comments and debates from the two students on hand. He also announced his intention to continue holding weekly Tuesday night open meetings to discuss the constitution.

"We are completely open to all suggestions—from a completely unified Society to a very provincial loose one, where the faculties meet once or twice a year," Oliver said.

A report on the new constitution or a new constitution itself is to be prepared by January 1973.

THE ATHLETICS SCENE

by gina widawski

Instructional

Women Last reminder for badminton registration which is today at 1:15 pm in the gym, and ski conditioning which is tomorrow also at 1:15 in the gym. Badminton and squash classes will begin next week.

Intercollegiate

Men Three events will be held this weekend: the RMC Invitational Waterpolo Tournament, rugby competition at McGill at 4 pm against the Grads; and the Hockey-Canada Tournament at Kingston which finds our hockey Redmen facing Trent, York and Queen's.

Women The field hockey White team travels to the University of Toronto for the final OWIAA tournament. Opponents will be Guelph, McMaster, Waterloo, and Western.

Basketball and ice-hockey tryouts have closed. There will be no intermediate team. The first game for the varsity team is Nov. 10.

The competitive swimming and diving teams have an invitational meet at State University College in Plattsburg this Friday.

today

continued from page 2

Institute of Islamic Studies:
Dr. Charles Adams will speak on

"Speculations on the future of the Indian subcontinent". Leacock common room, 8th floor, 4 pm.

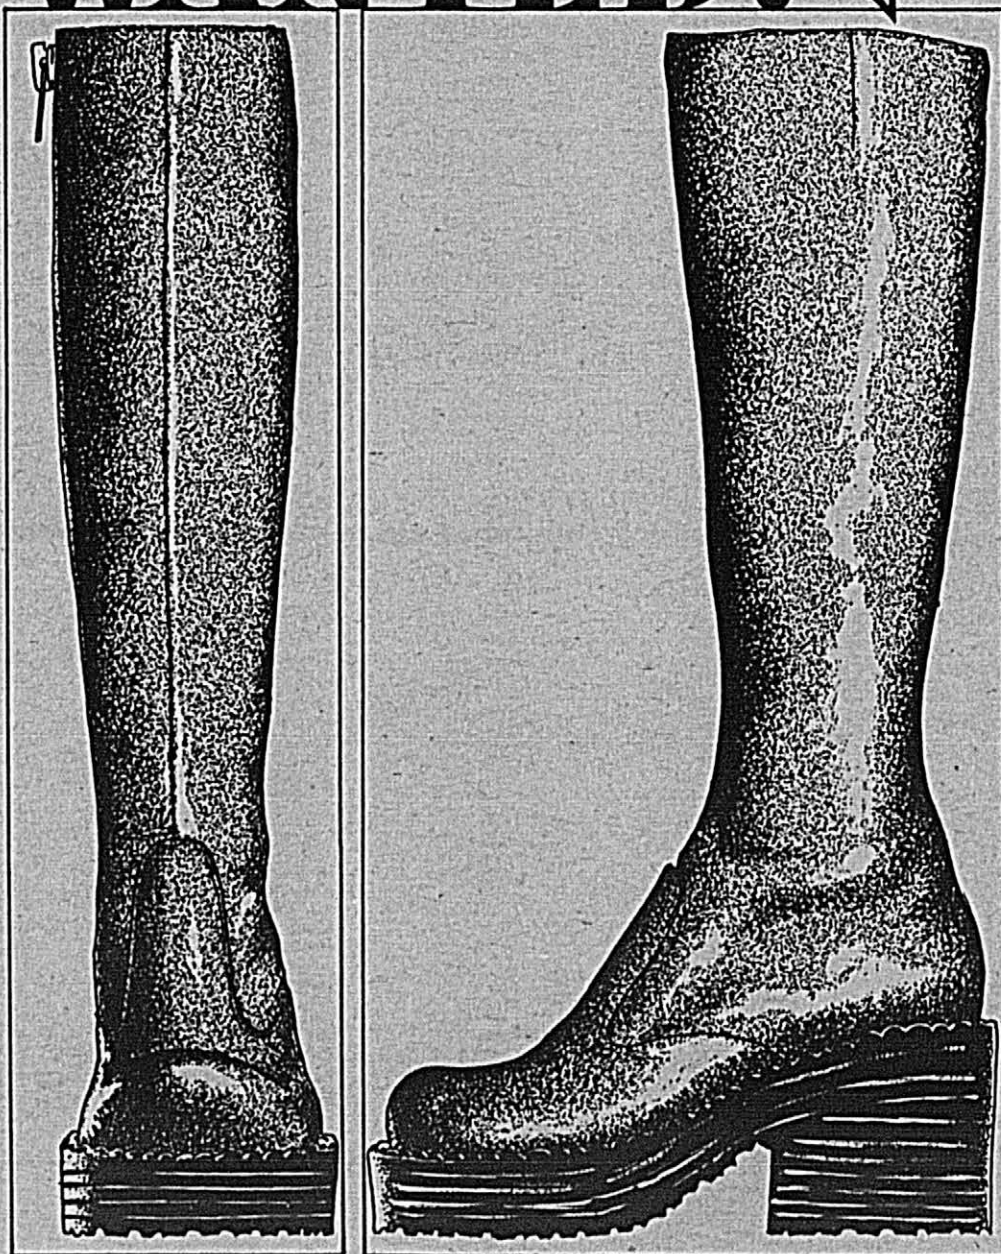

McGill Outing Club:
Executive meeting open to any members who wish to look in. 7 pm, B-24.

Debating Union:
Wednesday novice group revived by popular demand. 7 pm, B-42. Children's Art OFY project at Children's Hospital of Montreal. Student Union 123-124. 10 am-6 pm.

McGill Residences:
An introductory talk on transcendental meditation will be held tonight at McConnell Hall Common room at 8 pm. All welcome. More information at 285-1298.

the Villager* shoe shoppes

WANTED! ←

by Rosita

Available in Black or Rust leather.

only $30.00

Open Thursday and Friday Nites C.O.D. orders accepted. Credit and Charex cards honored

5218 Queen Mary Rd.
Fairview Shopping Centre

6621 St. Hubert St. Plaza
110 Sparks St. Mall (Ottawa)

1325 St. Catherine St. W.
Place Ville Marie

1478 Peel St.
Alexis Nihon Plaza

712 St. Catherine St. W. (For guys only)

Place Victoria
Les Galeries d'Anjou
Place Versailles
Centre Laval

Design and Word Trade Marks in Canada of the Villager Shoe Shoppes Ltd.

EARN MONEY
THE EASY WAY!

Sell ads for the Daily

- *Leads provided
- *Work only in your spare time
- *Generous Commissions

Come down to our office: Union Room B46

Simpsons
1972 CENTENNIAL YEAR

You'll enjoy shopping at Simpsons even more during our Centennial
Year...a yearful of excitement.